JUNIOR ISLAND DANCE HAS 20 CONTESTANTS FOR CASTAWAY COMPANION

Ho-omalimali, junior sponsored dance with island stylin' and a dream theme, now has a total of twenty candidates for the castaway companion contest.

Campus men who have been selected by organizations to represent them in the trek to "go native" are Ken McGill, Rod Richardson, Bill Leffland, Bill Shaw, George Gunth, Floyd Hobbs, Jack Costello, Bob Barton, Vernon Parrish, Roy Mieh.

Co-eds, who hate to see their men get lonely out there on the island, also have been entered in the contest.

Newest addition to the ranks is Doris Snell, while the others are Barbara Thorpe, Joanne O'Brien, Barbara Retchless, Marianne Hayes, June Robertson, Nancy Duncan, Janice Flint, Jo Ann Jackson, and Shirley Thomas.

Voting will take place Saturday evening at the dance in the Women's gym, which will be transformed into an imaginary tropical island setting for the occasion.

Organizations sponsoring candidates are preparing posters to be put up around campus advertising their proteges. Only restriction on these posters is that organizational names may not appear. Posters to be displayed at the dance may have the name of the sponsoring organization, but should be of regulation size, 22 by 28 inches.

Intermission entertainment will feature Hallewa club in its first San Jose presentation of its "Repertoire in Grass," and solos by Jewie Haddock and Milo Barger.

Come Saturday evening, then, cast your vote for the campus guy or gal you'd like to have on your desert island. But be sure she's no sarong choice!

Newmanites Give Pre-Lenten Dance

Plans for a dressy-sport pre-Lenten Valentine dance were made by the members of the Newman club at a meeting last Thursday. The dance will be held February 8 at Newman Hall.

Father George Schirle, adviser, announced that classes in Apologetics will begin at the next meeting, January 18, at 7:00. Pictures for the La Torre will also be taken at this meeting.

Pat Keating, club president, invites all students, Catholic and non-Catholic, to attend the Apologetics classes.

Frosh To Meet Thursday At 12:30

Freshman orientation will meet Thursday in the Morris Dailey auditorium at 12:30.

The following students should see Mrs. Maxwell in the Dean of Men's office before the Thursday meeting: Marie Antoinette Seifert, Marina Baldauf, Dorothy Azevedo.

Jeanne Barnivel, Pauline Timoshenko, Gail Murphy, Jo Ann Smith, Fanstina Smith, Mary Gilbert, and Ken McGill.

All students who have not been assigned seats in the auditorium should sign up in the Dean of Men's office immediately or no credit can be given for the course.

CLASS MEETINGS

SOPHOMORE

Meeting today at 12:30 in the Student Union, the sophomore class council will discuss plans for the ice skating party to be held soon. President June Robertson requests that all members attend and be prompt. All sophomores interested are invited to attend.

JUNIOR

Junior council will hold its regular meeting today at 12:30 in room 113. Important last-week arrangements for Ho-omalimali dance will be made, announces President Mary Hooten.

Tieh Wu Elected To Lead Chinese Group This Year

Tieh Wu was elected president of the China Study Group at the meeting held Friday, January 12.

Other officers include Shung Fong, vice president; Frances Chew, secretary; Marie Bruneau, treasurer; and John Hopkins, publicity director.

The organization is continuing the Chinese language course conducted by Tiely Wu.

This club was organized to give interested students a broader knowledge of China. The members believe that China will have an important role to play in the future world and that an understanding of her customs and problems is necessary to aid in establishing closer relations with the Chinese.

Heroine Featured In Pulitzer Prize Play Is Selfish Character

Mrs. Craig, of the forthcoming production, "Craig's Wife," is an interesting woman, according to William Melton, who will direct the play. One of the most important parts, this study of a selfish woman who uses every bit of designing, scheming and utter unscrupulousness that she possesses to gain her way is excellent contrast for the different types which are portrayed by other members of the cast of the play. Students will try out Thursday and Friday afternoons of this week for the part of Mrs. Craig and other parts from among the eleven in the play.

MRS. CRAIG

In her own words, Mrs. Craig is one of those women who "regards her husband and home as more or less ultimate conditions." She married Mr. Craig in order to have the home and intends to keep it and have the "utensils" for running it "by securing into my own hands the control of the man upon which they are founded."

MISS AUSTEN

Miss Austen, a middle-aged woman, the aunt of Mrs. Craig, leaves the house when she realizes the fruitlessness of her life there. The part of Miss Austen is one of the several fine character parts which will be cast. According to Melton, Ethel Landreth and Eugene Fredericks are the young couple whose love affair is very nearly broken up by Mrs. Craig.

Among the other parts are the police inspector, Catelle, and his man, Harry; the housekeeper, Mrs. Harold; the maid, Maizie; and Billy Birkmire, one of Mr. Craig's friends.

One of the most important persons in the play, Mr. Craig will have the audience's attention and sympathy throughout the performance.

Playwright George Kelly received the Pulitzer prize for this psychological drama in 1935. The play will be produced February 28, March 1 and 2, and rehearsals will start Monday following the casting.

REVELRIES CHORUS AUDITIONS WILL BE HELD WEDNESDAY IN MORRIS DAILEY; SPEAKING PART TRYOUTS ARE JAN. 22

Chorus tryouts for Spartan Revelries will be held tomorrow at 4:30 o'clock in the Morris Dailey auditorium. Olga Popovich, dance director in charge, requests that shorts be worn.

SPEAKING PARTS

Tryouts for speaking parts are scheduled for Monday, January 22, at 4 o'clock in the auditorium. The second act of Revelries is a boarding house skit with parts in it for eight men. Copies of the script will be placed on reserve in the library by Friday, so that students may practice over the weekend preceding the tryouts.

Planists for chorus rehearsals are needed, in addition to stage crew and property workers. Men students are wanted to sing and dance in the chorus and for speaking parts. Students able to teach and compose dance routines are being sought by the dance director.

Anyone interested in filling these positions for which no tryouts are necessary is instructed to contact any member of the Revelries board, or to leave a note in the Speech office or in the "R" box in the Co-op.

Admission prices for the musical show, slated for March 9 and 10, have been set at one dollar for reserved seats and 75 cents for non-reserved. A 15-cent reduction will be allowed students with ASB cards.

Members of the Revelries board include Marian Jacobson, director;

HOUR RALLY, BIG DANCE PLANNED BY RALLY HEADS FOR GAME WITH SFS HERE

Student Council Appoints

Laura Lee Zwissig Temporarily

Planning a full night February 9 for the San Jose State-San Francisco State game, Pat Moore announced the possibility of holding an hour rally before the game and a dance to conclude the evening. The rally would begin at 7 and the dance would end around 12. Miss Moore will be in charge of the rally, while Elaine Chadbourne, Social Affairs head, will formulate dance plans.

Miss Chadbourne announced that members of her committee will be chosen today at a special meeting and asks that all students turn out.

Laura Lee Zwissig was elected to the council for this quarter as senior representative to replace Jeanne Petrinovich, now inactive. Miss Petrinovich will return to the post next quarter.

LaVerne Fuller, court justice, presented reports on the nine organization cases tried. Those cited were Beta Chi Sigma, Delta Nu Theta, Iota Delta Phi, Mu Delta Pi, Smock 'n Tam, and Black Masque. Three additional cases will be tried tonight.

The council voted unanimously to change the by-law which states that the head of the Rally committee shall head Spardi Gras. As it now stands, the Spardi Gras chairman will be appointed by the ASB president with the approval of the Council.

Virginia McCue reported to the group on the operation of the Student Book Exchange. Mrs. McCue remarked that though the exchange was short handed, they had done close to $140 worth of business this quarter. Except for 5 per cent running expenses, the Book Exchange takes in no money itself.

Hugh Johnston, council member, reported that $14.20 had been taken in this week on the juke box, and an equal amount spent for folders and cases for the records.

PIANO RECITAL SCHEDULED FOR JANUARY 23

Added to the calendar of coming attractions is Benning Dexter's piano recital, scheduled for Tuesday evening, January 23, in the college Little Theater.

Dexter, a popular artist at the college for the past several years, will present a program of classical music for the enjoyment of music lovers.

The recital, beginning at 8:15 p. m. will be given free of charge.

J. Campbell Elected To Head Fraternity

Delta Sigma Gamma fraternity held election of officers at its regular meeting recently.

Those elected to the executive body are Jack Campbell, president; Verne Parrish, vice president; Wes Nunes, secretary; Dwight Mathiesen, treasurer; Inter-Fraternity council representatives elected are Jack Costello and Paul Hurmeses.

Campus Groups Must Arrange For LaTorre Photographs Now

Campus organizations planning to have group pictures taken for this year's La Torre should immediately contact the members of the staff to whom they have been assigned to make appointments in the Publications office.

Bibliophile, Collegiate Christian Fellowship, Newman club, and Pan-American club have been assigned to Laura Lee Zwissig. Mary George Co-op house, Student Book Exchange, Campus USO, and the Student Christian Association are being handled by Phyllis McDonald.

Betty Doyle is in charge of the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior councils. Joanne O'Brien will make appointments for the Entomology club, Pi Nu Sigma, Rally committee, Social Affairs committee, and the Co-op fountain and book store.

Organizations not listed who want group pictures should contact Frances Wulff immediately.

M. Hooten Heads Rally Tomorrow For Thursday's Game

Mary Hooten will be mistress of ceremonies at a rally tomorrow in the auditorium at 12:30 to stimulate spirit for the game with Treasure Island Armed Guard Thursday night in the Men's gym.

Ken McGill and his assistant yell leaders will lead Spartans in songs and yells. McGill will introduce the newly appointed yell leader. The basketball team will be introduced by Coach Bill Hubbard.

The Rally committee is attempting to get the Veterans' band to play for the game, and according to Bill Shaw, who is investigating the situation, it will be there.

New members of the Rally committee are Phyllis McDonald, Virginia Sherwood, Jean Astarita, Betty Davis, Jan Hagerty, Georgene Bihlman, Eleanor Budislich, Virginia Birmingham, Ernestine DeFord, Bernice Hansen, Jean Laederich, Kathie Landis.

Louise Grace, Veronica Baker, Pat Cribari, Pat Rhodes, Bonnie Gartshore, Nelda Jones, Yvonne Welch, Katie Gorham, Donna Chaboya, Bob Barton, Bill Shaw, Olga Popovich, Irene Hull, Clarice Albertina.

Executive council is made up of Patty Moore, committee chairman, Jerry Evans, vice chairman, Ken McGill, yell leader, and freshman representatives Jean Laederich, Carolyn Peterson, Nelda Jones. Sophomore representatives are Virginia Sherwood, Phyllis McDonald, and Bill Shaw. Pat Rhodes, Louise Grace, and Georgene Bihlman are junior representatives.

THROUGH OTHER EYES

By DAVID WEBSTER

Signs of the times; or, in California, spring is already kidding around. Has anyone besides Dr. Rhodes of the Sciences department noticed that the three-spined barberry out in front of the Home Economics building has a lot of little yellow blossoms? Only they object to being plucked, and if you don't think so, just try to get a boutonniere out there.

Nurses' aides on State campus will appreciate this sad tale from the Daily Californian.

She was tired.

The nurses' aide had already been on her feet several hours when she was assigned to give back rubs to four hospitalized servicemen.

When she finished she was very tired.

But there was another sailor sitting in the room, although he was not confined to bed.

"Would you like a back rub too?" she asked.

"Sure," he said.

The nurses' aide gave the fifth man his back rub. When she was finished he thanked her and remarked, "Well, visiting hours are over. Guess I'll be getting along."

The nurses' aide was very tired.

The Spartan Daily prints here-with an excerpt from the Idaho Argonaut, which in turn reprinted it from the Sewance Mountain Goat. Wonder where the Mountain Goat got it.

"Gee, your sweetie uses plenty of make-up."

"Yeah, she's my powdered sugar."

And with that we'll take a powder.

Weekly Magazine Solves Problems For Librarian

By VIRGINIA WILCOX

An article in the December issue of "Publisher's Weekly" proved to be the solution to one of Miss Dora Smith's problems in securing reference books for the library.

Several months ago Miss Smith ordered the 1943-44 edition of "Jane's All the World's Aircraft" and "Jane's Fighting Ships." She not only didn't receive the books but she didn't even get a letter telling why.

A few nights ago, however, she found the answer in the "Publisher's Weekly" magazine. The Macmillan company announced that last July the offices of Sampson and Low publishers of Jane's fighting craft series, had been destroyed by bombs.

The few salvager office articles were moved to new premises a few blocks away. Four nights later, the new quarters were bombed, thus completely destroying the publishing company. Therefore, Macmillan will not publish "Jane's Fighting Ships 1943-44" and "Jane's All the World's

WARTIME DANGERS CREATE NEED FOR BACTERIOLOGY

By DALE BOWER

The science of bacteriology has become increasingly important because our soldiers are coming in contact with diseases new to the United States.

In tropical countries the troops are exposed to strange and dangerous diseases. The need for bacteriologists to combat these maladies is great.

There is also some danger of bubonic plague breaking out in California. The plague is carried on fleas which in turn live on rats, ground squirrels, and other small rodents. Increased wartime shipping may bring infected rats into this state which will pass their plague-infested fleas to the animal population of California with epidemic results.

Dr. Charles E. Clifton, professor of bacteriology at Stanford university, is teaching bacteriology here on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. In his class the students prepare and stain all of their slides and learn how to identify and grow different types of bacteria.

Dr. Clifton has written several papers on bacteria and he says all bacteriologists are looking forward to the use of the electron microscope in photographing bacteria.

Marine Captain Stanley M. Murdock, State graduate, has returned from the Central Pacific where he served as a Douglas skyfreighter pilot with an air transport group.

The captain, who participated in the Gilbert, Marshall and Marianas campaigns, logged 1,000 hours carrying vital supplies and personnel to more than 20 Allied-held islands. The young flier also evacuated wounded to rear base hospitals.

Previously he was stationed at Pago Pago, Samoa and Funafuti in the Ellice Islands, where he was assistant operations officer of his outfit.

'Desirable Kitchen' Is Theme Of Home Economics Exhibit

"Plan Tomorrow's Kitchen Today" is the theme for the exhibit now on display in the Home Economics building.

Featured are pictures and charts suggesting the factors to consider in planning a kitchen. Also presented are concepts and characteristics of the desirable kitchen, both present and future.

The exhibit was prepared as a partial requirement for Dr. Jones' methods class by Ruth Morris, senior home economics major.

FLOTSAM

By GLORIA TERESI

Writing this column (polite term for going berserk in print) has caused a crisis in our life. We had hitherto gone about our business (we dealt in secondhand cokes, old Spartan Dailies, and used typewriter ribbons), being reticent, inconspicuous, and insignificant (we left the easiest for the last). Then tragedy struck.

Flotsam came into existence to menace our peace of mind, calm of spirit, and good of health. (Constant beatings break down the brain tissues, if any.) Now we trudge down to the Co-op as is our wont (we say we won't, but always do) and instead of being able to sit there happily dabbling our fingers in a coke, and thinking great thoughts, people accost us.

There are two types: Those who want to maim us, and those who want to kill us outright. Then, after we have denied our identity, claiming to be a self-respecting janitress escaped from the cellar of the Science building (no, not out of a bottle), our tormentors remove the burning bamboo shoots from under our fingernails, and form a posse to go in search of the object of their wrath. We cling weakly to the edge of the counter and gasp for coffee, black! (A strong beverage we never indulge in, except in moments of great stress.)

Occurrences of this kind are naturally disconcerting and upsetting, too! We never know at what moment we will be mutilated and mangled (just 'cause we have two heads, they figure we could double for the parts).

Not that we are cowards about this. We just have a quaint, old fashioned prejudice against being strewn all over the San Jose State college (fees slightly raised to keep out riff-raff and/or journalism majors) campus. People keep saying, "Don't go to pieces," and we agree, but the reading public wants to spread us thin over the Quad and then apply their number 12's. We keep saying, "Don't make a path," but it's rather difficult to enunciate clearly with those Dutch clogs between your teeth.

So, we have decided to take action. Instead of lurking in dark corners, or scuttling hurriedly down the walk, with our collar turned up, we are brazenly going to face the world. Just us and our little bowie knife. Cuttin' up again!

A strange something is in the air these days. People (or reasonable facsimiles) on the staff seem to be laboring (not that!) under the delusion that they are just lousy with talent. Well . . .

Just mention the word Revelries, and everyone in the place starts singing, dancing, emoting, or specialty acting like mad. This adds slight confusion to the usually serene atmosphere. (Now you can tell one.)

It isn't that these writers want to appear in Revelries. No. They just figure that if a talent scout from the show happened to be passing by and accidentally got caught in one of those old bear traps that just happen to be outside the door, that it would be a crying shame for him to miss the chance of his lifetime. That is, grab up the wealth of talent here.

That is the whole fiendish plot. We said it and we're glad we said it. Glad, we say, glad! They'll torture us and make us suffer, but we feel that we owed it to the college to prepare them for this catastrophe.

We hated to sabotage the careers of our fellow-journalists this way, but if they all go out and start performing right and left, we will be left here alone in this Pub office to weep and to mourn and to try to put out this paper.

Leroy Zimmerman, ex-football star here at San Jose State, was recently awarded the "Touchdown Club" trophy as the outstanding professional football player of 1944. Zimmerman was associated with the Philadelphia Eagles, eastern professional club. He played in the backfield, alternating at halfback and fullback where he became famous with his passes that were so similar to "Slinging Sammy Baugh" of Texas Christian university.

Zimmerman saw his most successful year at State in 1939, ("Five Years Ago Today") when he led his team to 13 straight victories against no defeats. That was the most successful year Sparta has ever had on the gridiron, and Zimmerman was instrumental in its success.

DEGROOT

"Dud" DeGroot, ex-football mentor of State and present coach of the Washington Redskins professional football team, is reported to have had a slight misunderstanding with George Marshall, owner of the Redskins. DeGroot, who incidentally coached Zimmerman in his college days, says he plans to continue coaching the Washington team, and that he has received no other offers. Marshall told reporters that he intended to keep DeGroot as head tutor of his team; however, persons closely associated with the Redskins insist that relations between Marshall and DeGroot are strained.

UCLA pulled somewhat of an upset Saturday night when they toppled the University of California Bears on the hardwood, 37-26. It was the opening Pacific Coast Conference game for both of the clubs, and the Bears were tagged as one of the teams to beat this year. However, the Bruins, with the addition of Bob Waterfield, proved to be strong enough to take the Californians into camp.

MCCASLIN

Looking back on the first half of the basketball season we find no other than Modest Don McCaslin as the leading scorer of the club. McCaslin has averaged close to 12 points a game, and has been the leading offense punch of the Spartans this year since forward Ed Maggetti left the squad several weeks ago. Last Friday night against the Tigers of Pacific, Don scored only eight points. This was the least he has tallied in any one game, which, incidentally, isn't bad in itself.

McCaslin has reported to his local draft board and it won't be long before he, too, will be lost to Sparta for the duration.

The swimmers of State are rapidly rounding into shape in order to form a swimming team in the very near future. Led by Cecil Dombalian, veterans of the tank will lead the Spartans this year.

COAST GUARD PILOTS TACKLE REVISED STATE CAGE OUTFIT HERE TONIGHT AT 8 O'CLOCK IN MEN'S GYMNASIUM

By WARREN BRADY

The Coast Guard Pilots from San Francisco invade the Spartan gym tonight to tackle the revised State cage outfit at 8 o'clock.

Led by Emlen Tunnell, lanky negro guard, the Pilots will be the top-heavy favorites to take the measure of the Spartan hoopsters. Tunnell, stalwart guard on the Coast Guard club, has been the hub in both the Pilots' offense and defense all season. He will definitely bear watching.

Completely recovered from the sound defeat they suffered at the hands of College of Pacific last

Frat Casaba League Opens Conference

Friday night saw a successful opening to the newly formed fraternity basketball league at San Jose State. Four teams met in the opening of the round-robin conference.

At 7 o'clock the Beta Chi Sigma fraternity met and defeated Gamma Phi Sigma by the score of 31-18. Led by Jim Beacock and Doug Pautz, who scored 12 and 10 points respectively, the Beta Chis knocked over their taller opponents without too much trouble. Gamma Phi was led by Larry Cowper, former Campbell High school student, who tallied five points for the losers.

In the final half of the double-header the Independent team led by Art Jacobson, Dave Eyre, and Bob Hamilton, who scored six points apiece, defeated Theta Mu Sigma, 25-24, in an overtime contest.

The Independents took an early lead but were overtaken in the second half by Theta Mu and forced into an overtime. This game was perhaps the better of the two, for it was more evenly played and the fact it went into an overtime added to the excitement of the small crowd that was on hand to witness the contests.

The league has definitely gotten off to a fine start and should add to the Spartan sports enthusiasts.

Friday night, the Staters will go into tonight's contest with renewed vigor. It will be the last appearance of Angelo Arredondo, flashy forward on the Spartan club who will leave Thursday for the good old U. S. Army. Arredondo has been a "starter" on the first team since early in the season, and has shown much improvement as the season has progressed.

Another loss that the Spartans will suffer in the near future will be that of Wilmer Melhoff, the other half of State's forward line. Melhoff has been Arredondo's running mate at the other forward position since Ed Maggetti left the squad. Melhoff is reported to be going back to farming, where he is valuably needed.

A big turn out is expected tonight to watch the strong Coast Guard club perform. They have been playing a lot of basketball this year in the NCAA circuit in San Francisco.

PRELIMINARY GAME

A preliminary game will be played before the varsity tilt and will find San Jose High facing an as yet unnamed high school from the immediate locality.

SJS SWIM TEAM OPENS PRACTICE

San Jose State's swim team has begun practice for its first season since 1943. Opening game is scheduled to be played with the Olympic club sometime during the latter part of this month.

Although some of the team members are not receiving credit, all of them will play in the meets. According to Cecil Dombalian, temporary head of the team, there is good material, but it needs developing.

Two teams will be organized within the squad to promote intersquad rivalry. The teams will challenge each other every Friday afternoon unless there is a game with another school.

Each team will elect a captain who will supervise the Friday meets, which are slated to promote college as well as squad spirit. All students will be urged to attend the games.

to inflict more damage. The Japs had thoughtfully left behind 40 rounds of ammunition to the mortar, which is a deadly weapon Americans have learned to respect. "It would have been an awfully heavy souvenir to lug around anyhow," Hawkins said later.

A veteran of Attu and Kwajalein, he knew the mortar's death-dealing capacity, and promptly turned it on the Japanese who had fallen back from the ridge of a steep hill near Damulaan on the western side of the island.

His score: Three enemy mortars knocked out, and plenty of panic among the Japs, who hadn't expected an overdose of their own lethal medicine. "Just hated to see good ammunition go to waste," murmured the lieutenant when told of his boomerang's harvest.

WAVE Marie M. Hayes, S2c, former Spartanette, began training as a Navy weather observer at the Aerographer's School of the Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N. J. The school trains sailors, marines, coast guardsmen and WAVES in a three-month course.

Women reservists are assigned to duty at shore bases, relieving men for sea duty. The course includes meteorology, weather codes and mapping, map analysis, balloon sounding and typing.

LETTERS

Former Spartan Ken Fisher, now a sergeant, writes to us from England,

"You can see how I have drifted away from the good old school when I don't even know who the Daily editor is. I would sure like to have the paper sent to me as I plan on returning to State when the war is over. It will aid greatly in keeping me in touch with the school while I am away. Things are going O.K. for me and since leaving school I have acquired a wife and son (both American)."

Lt. Corrine C. Rizzo, student here last year, is now a physical therapist in the Army medical department and for the past two months has been a staff member at Thayer General Hospital, Nashville, Tenn.

Lieutenant Rizzo can't say much about the Southern climate as "they keep us too busy to find out about the surrounding territory."

Charles Leong is now a private first class with the 14th Army Public Relations Office in China. PFC Leong came to San Jose from Watsonville in 1936. He was the first Chinese to edit a college paper in the United States.

After his graduation from State he went to Stanford and received his master's degree. He was co-editor of the "California Press" in San Francisco, first Chinese paper printed in English since 1853. He played in "Good Earth", "Lost Horizon", and other San Jose Players' productions.

College Rooms To Be Freed Of OPA Regulations

Rooms in bona fide social and fraternal clubs, and in college fraternities and sororities, will henceforth be freed of OPA regulations where such rooms are certified as exempt by the rent director of the OPA, according to a statement made today by Henry A. Cross, San Francisco district rent executive of the Office of Price Administration.

The ruling, which has just become effective, was made by OPA in Washington, and was in form of an amendment to present regulations, Cross explained, on the ground that in the case of bona fide clubs, fraternities and sororities, the renting of rooms is one of the privileges of membership.

"The exemption of rooms in a club, fraternity or sorority," Cross said, "must be made through application to the area rent director and the clubs must be recognized as non-profit by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Club rooms may only be rented to members, guests of members, or members of similar organizations where reciprocal arrangements for the exchange of privileges are enjoyed."

Tests Will Be Held January 25 And 27 For State Jobs

The State Personnel Board announces statewide examinations will be held on January 25 for Livestock Pathologist, salary $285 a month, to fill a position in the laboratory of the Division of Animal Industry at Petaluma; Guard, $165 a month, at California Institution for Women, Tehachapi; and Instructor in Garment Making, $205 a month.

Tests on January 27 are for Delineator, $195 a month, and Furniture and Bedding Inspector, $185 a month.

Applications for these examinations should be filed with the board's offices in Los Angeles, San Francisco or Sacramento fifteen days before the date of the test.

"Protect Our Profession" Article By Lillian Gray Appears In Magazine

"Protect Our Profession" is the title of an article by Mrs. Lillian Gray, of the Education department, appearing in the current issue of the Sierra Educational News.

Mrs. Gray lists the steps in building up a strong professional feeling in the teaching profession and discusses means of stemming the tide of teachers now leaving the profession for better-paying jobs and of relieving the acute "Teacher-Power Shortage."

Mrs. Gray mentions the study of the National Education Association's "Teacher's Code of Ethics" as a means of developing a new pride in the teaching profession.

According to Mrs. Gray, the Teacher's Code "manifests greater social responsibility than any other," and everyone in the field should acquaint himself with the contents.

A member of the NEA Committee of Professional Ethics, Mrs. Gray has been an associate professor of education at SJSC since 1932.
